I played majority of my minor hockey wearing the Green, White and Black (1991 to 2005) at the AAA level. I was blessed to have several great role models as coaches throughout my minor hockey years in Windsor. They taught me to respect the game, respect my teammates and most of all to respect my elders.

My job as a coach is to inspire, mold, and teach the essential skills needed to possess the ability to push these young athletes to the next level in their journey through sport, as well as to teach these young athletes how to prepare for life after sport. Nothing will come easy. It will take hard work, dedication, and courage to push yourself to be the best that you can be. “A team is only as strong as their weakest link” - “Nothing will work unless you do” I look forward to seeing you all at WMHA U15A tryouts.
